Introduction to the Economic Census

PURPOSES AND USES OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

The economic census is the major source of facts about the structure and functioning of the Nation's economy. It provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public.

The economic census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the gross domestic product, input/output measures, production and price indexes, and other statistical series that measure short-term changes in economic conditions.

Policymaking agencies of the Federal Government use the data, especially in monitoring economic activity and providing assistance to business.

State and local governments use the data to assess business activities and tax bases within their jurisdictions and to develop programs to attract business.

Trade associations study trends in their own and competing industries and keep their members informed of market changes.

Individual businesses use the data to locate potential markets and to analyze their own production and sales performance relative to industry or area averages.

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

Title 13 of the United States Code (sections 131, 191, and 224) directs the Census Bureau to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7. The 1992 Economic Census consists of the following eight censuses:

- Census of Retail Trade
- Census of Wholesale Trade
- Census of Service Industries
- Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries
- Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities
- Census of Manufactures
- Census of Mineral Industries
- Census of Construction Industries

Special programs also cover enterprise statistics and minority-owned and women-owned businesses. (The 1992 Census of Agriculture and 1992 Census of Governments are conducted separately.) The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

AVAILABILITY OF THE DATA

The results of the economic census are available in printed reports and on compact discs for sale by the Census Bureau. Order forms for all types of products are available on request from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-8300. A more complete description of publications being issued from this census is on the inside back cover of this document.

Census facts are also widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Finally, State data centers in every State as well as business and industry data centers in many States also supply economic census statistics.

WHAT'S NEW IN 1992

The 1992 Economic Census covers more of the economy than any previous census. New for 1992 are data on communications, utilities, financial, insurance, and real estate, as well as coverage of more transportation industries. The economic, agriculture, and governments censuses now collectively cover nearly 98 percent of all economic activity.

Among other changes, new 1992 definitions affect the boundaries of about a third of all metropolitan areas. Also, the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses has now been expanded to include all corporations.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The economic census has been taken as an integrated program at 5-year intervals since 1967 and before that for 1963, 1958, and 1954. Prior to that time, the individual subcomponents of the economic census were taken separately at varying intervals.

The economic census traces its beginnings to the 1810 Decennial Census, when questions on manufacturing were included with those for population. Coverage of economic activities was expanded for 1840 and subsequent censuses to include mining and some commercial activities. In 1902, Congress established a permanent Census Bureau and directed that a census of manufactures be taken every 5 years. The 1905 Manufactures Census was the first time a census was taken apart from the regular every-10-year population census.

The first census of business was taken in 1930, covering 1929. Initially it covered retail and wholesale trade and construction industries, but it was broadened in 1933 to include some of the service trades.

The 1954 Economic Census was the first census to be fully integrated—providing comparable census data across economic sectors, using consistent time periods, concepts, definitions, classifications, and reporting units. It was the first census to be taken by mail, using lists of firms provided by the administrative records of other Federal agencies. Since 1963, administrative records also have been used to provide basic statistics for very small firms, reducing or eliminating the need to send them census questionnaires. The Enterprise Statistics Program, which publishes combined data from the economic census, was made possible with the implementation of the integrated census program in 1954.

The range of industries covered in the economic censuses has continued to expand. The census of construction industries began on a regular basis in 1967, and the scope of service industries was broadened in 1967, 1977, and 1987. The census of transportation began in 1963 as a set of surveys covering travel, transportation of commodities, and trucks, but expanded in 1987 to cover business establishments in several transportation industries. For 1992, these statistics are incorporated into a broadened census of transportation, communications, and utilities. Also new for 1992 is the census of financial, insurance, and real estate industries. This is part of a gradual expansion in coverage of industries previously subjected to government regulation.

The Survey of Minority-Owned Business Enterprises was first conducted as a special project in 1969 and was incorporated into the economic census in 1972 along with the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses.

An economic census has also been taken in Puerto Rico since 1909, in the Virgin Islands of the United States and Guam since 1958, and in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands since 1982.

Statistical reports from the 1987 and earlier censuses provide historical figures for the study of long-term time series and are available in some large libraries. All of the census data published since 1967 are still available for sale on microfiche from the Census Bureau.

AVAILABILITY OF MORE FREQUENT ECONOMIC DATA

While the census provides complete enumerations every 5 years, there are many needs for more frequent data as well. The Census Bureau conducts a number of monthly, quarterly, and annual surveys, with the results appearing in publication series such as Current Business Reports (retail and wholesale trade and service industries), the Annual Survey of Manufactures, Current Industrial Reports, and the Quarterly Financial Report. Most of these surveys, while providing more frequent observations, yield less kind-of-business and geographic detail than the census. The County Business Patterns program offers annual statistics on the number of establishments, employment, and payroll classified by industry within each county.

SOURCES FOR MORE INFORMATION

More information about the scope, coverage, classification system, data items, and publications for each of the economic censuses and related surveys is published in the Guide to the 1992 Economic Census and Related Statistics. More information on the methodology, procedures, and history of the census will be published in the History of the 1992 Economic Census. Contact Customer Services for information on availability.

Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate (FIRE) Industries

GENERAL

The 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate (FIRE) Industries, part of the 1992 Economic Census, covered financial, insurance, and real estate industries as defined in Division H of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC).

Data are presented for establishments in the following classifications:

SIC code	Title
60	Depository institutions
61	Nondepository credit institutions
62	Security and commodity brokers, dealers, exchanges, and services
63	Insurance carriers
64	Insurance agents, brokers, and service
65	Real estate
67	Holding and other investment offices

This report includes only establishments with payroll.

Government-operated establishments in the covered industries are excluded from this report, with the exception of depository institutions under conservatorship of a governmental organization, central reserve institutions, and federally-sponsored credit agencies.

For firms classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), the basic tabulations in this report include establishments which are auxiliary (primary function is providing a service, such as an administrative office) to other establishments within the same organization. For firms classified in all other industries covered by this report, the basic tabulations do not include data for auxiliary establishments. Data for these auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

For the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries, large- and medium-size firms, plus all firms known to operate more than one establishment, were sent questionnaires to be completed and returned to the Census Bureau by mail. For selected very small firms, including those with no paid employees, data from existing administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead. These records provided basic information on location, kind of business, revenue, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization. In addition, more detailed information for selected kinds of business was obtained on the various questionnaires.

Appendix A gives a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, no data are published that would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business. However, the number of establishments in a kind-of-business classification is not considered a disclosure, so this information may be released even though other information is withheld.

GEOGRAPHIC AREAS COVERED

This report presents data for the following areas:

1. The United States as a whole.
2. Each State and the District of Columbia.
3. Each consolidated metropolitan statistical area (CMSA) and primary metropolitan statistical area (PMSA) defined by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) as of June 30, 1993. A CMSA is an area used to facilitate the presentation and analysis of data for large concentrations of metropolitan populations. It includes two or more contiguous PMSA's which have a population of at least 1,000,000<sup>2</sup> and which meet specific criteria of urban character and of social and economic integration.
4. Each metropolitan statistical area (MSA) defined by the OMB as of June 30, 1993. An MSA is an integrated economic and social unit with a population nucleus of at least 50,000 inhabitants.<sup>2</sup> Each MSA consists of one or more counties meeting standards of metropolitan character; in New England, cities and towns rather than counties are the component geographic units.

DOLLAR VALUES

All dollar values presented in this report are expressed in current dollars, i.e., 1992 data are expressed in 1992 dollars. Consequently, when making comparisons to prior years, users of the data should consider the inflation that has occurred.

RELIABILITY OF DATA

All data compiled in this report originated from either census questionnaires or administrative records of other Federal agencies and, therefore, are not subject to sampling errors. However, the data are subject to nonsampling errors. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to identify all cases in the actual universe; definition and classification difficulties; differences in the interpretation of questions; errors in recording or coding the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, processing, and estimation for missing or misreported data.

The accuracy of these tabulated data is determined by the joint effects of the various nonsampling errors. No direct measurement of these effects has been obtained except for estimation for missing or misreported data; however, precautionary steps were taken in all phases of the collection, processing, and tabulation of the data in an effort to minimize the effects of nonsampling errors.

The Bureau of the Census obtains on computer tape limited information extracted from administrative records of other Federal agencies. This information is used in conjunction with other information available to the Census Bureau to develop estimates for nonemployers, small employers, and other establishments for which responses were not received in time for publication. For an indication of the extent that data included in these reports were obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies and from estimation, rather than reports directly from respondents, see appendix E. Also, see appendix A for a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries may be obtained, depending on availability of time and personnel, on diskette, computer tape, or in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind of business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Services Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

To discuss a special tabulation before submitting specifications, call 1-800-541-8345.

General Explanation

CENSUS COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Structure and method of enumeration. Firms in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries were divided into the nonmail universe and mail universe. The coverage and the method of obtaining census information from each follow:

1. The nonmail universe consisted of firms which were not required to file a regular census return and included:
  - a. All nonemployers, i.e., all firms with no paid employees during 1992. Revenue information for these firms was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies. Although consisting of many firms, nonemployers accounted for less than 6 percent of total revenue of all establishments covered in the census.

The census included only those financial, insurance, and real estate nonemployer firms which reported a revenue volume of $1,000 or more during 1992.

Data for nonemployers are not included in this report, but are provided in a subsequent Nonemployer Statistics report (FC92-N-1).
  - b. Selected small employers, i.e., single-establishment firms with payroll below a specified cutoff classified in Major Group 64. (The term "employers" refers to firms with one or more paid employees at any time during 1992 as shown in the active administrative records of other Federal agencies.) Small employers generally included firms with fewer than 10 employees and represented about 20 percent of total revenue of establishments in Major Group 64.

Data on revenue, payroll, and employment for employer firms below the payroll cutoff were derived or estimated from administrative records of other Federal agencies, except for a sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data requirements precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. This sample was included in the mail universe.
2. The mail universe consisted of firms for which information was obtained by means of a mail canvass and included:
  - a. Large employers, i.e., all multiestablishment firms, and all employer firms above the payroll size cutoff referred to in section 1b. Within this category, a report of company organization was conducted periodically to identify establishment locations of firms which operated at more than one location and to obtain information on payroll and mid-March employment at each location. The 1991 Report of Company Organization was used as a coverage check in the census. In the 1992 census, all multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these establishments.

In the 1992 census, multiestablishment firms were divided into two categories of report forms, State and establishment. Firms with establishments classified in selected banking (SIC 60) and insurance (SIC 63) industries were sent report forms to collect information for each State in which those firms operated. In addition to the information reported in summary for the State, those firms were asked to report the payroll and mid-March employment for each establishment operated in the State. All other establishments of multiestablishment firms classified in all other financial, insurance, and real estate industries were sent individual report forms for each location.

All multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any States or establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these States or establishments.
  - b. The sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. These firms were sent the census mailing packages containing the appropriate 1992 questionnaire.

Method of classifying kinds of business. The financial, insurance, and real estate industries classifications for all establishments were based on the Standard Industrial

Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC). However, the method of assigning these classifications, and the level of detail at which establishments were classified, differed between the nonmail and mail universes as follows:

1. The nonmail universe
  - a. Nonemployers were classified on the basis of information obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.
  - b. Selected small employers in Major Group 64 were classified on the basis of a brief inquiry requesting information necessary to assign a 1992 census kind-of-business code, or the classification was obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies.
2. Establishments in the mail universe were classified on the basis of their self-designation, sources of revenue, and other special inquiries.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Establishments. An establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted. It is not necessarily identical with a company or enterprise, which may consist of one establishment or more. Statistics for financial, insurance, and real estate industries represent a summary of reports for individual establishments rather than companies. For cases where a census report was received, separate information was obtained for each location where business was conducted. When administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead of a census report, no information was available on the number of locations operated. Estimates of this number were derived from a sample and are provided in the financial, insurance, and real estate industries report, Miscellaneous Subjects (FC92-S-3). Each census report was tabulated according to the physical location at which the business was conducted. The count of establishments represents those in business at any time during 1992. Appendix G, of this report, provides a comparison of the number of establishments active any time during the year versus the number in business at the end of the year.

When two activities or more were carried on at a single location under a single ownership, all activities generally were grouped together as a single establishment. The entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity and all data for it were included in that classification. However, when distinct and separate economic activities (for which different industry classification codes were appropriate) were conducted at a single location under a single ownership, and when conditions prescribed by the SIC manual for recognizing the existence of more than one establishment were met, separate establishment reports for each of the different activities were obtained in the census.

Firms. A firm is a business organization or entity consisting of one domestic establishment (location) or more under common ownership or control. All establishments of subsidiary firms are included as part of the owning or controlling firm. For the economic census, the terms "firm" and "company" are synonymous.

Revenue (Basic dollar volume measure for financial, insurance, and real estate establishments covered by the census). Revenue from all business activities whether or not payment was received in 1992, including net premiums earned by insurance carriers, commissions and fees from all sources, rents, net investment income, interest, dividends, and royalties. Rental revenue from leasing property marketed under operating leases is included, as well as interest earned from property marketed in 1992 under capital, finance, or full payout leases. Revenue also includes the total value of service contracts, amounts received for work subcontracted to others, rents from property sublet to others, and dues and assessments from members.

Revenue does not include sales and other taxes collected from customers and remitted directly by the firm to a local, State, or Federal tax agency. Revenue in this report does not include financial, insurance, or real estate revenue of manufacturers, wholesalers, retail, or service establishments, or other businesses whose primary activity is other than finance, insurance, or real estate.

Annual payroll. Payroll includes all forms of compensation, such as salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, vacation allowances, sick-leave pay, employee contributions to qualified pension plans, and the value of payments in kind (e.g. free meals and lodgings) paid during the year to all employees. Tips and gratuities received by employees from patrons and reported to employers are included. For corporations, payroll includes amounts paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include profit or other compensation of proprietors or partners. Payroll does not include commissions paid to independent (nonemployee) agents, such as insurance and real estate agents. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, union dues, etc. This definition of payroll is the same as that used by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on form 941.

First-quarter payroll. This item consists of payroll, as defined above, paid to persons employed at any time during the quarter January to March, 1992.

Paid employees for pay period including March 12. Paid employees consist of the full- and part-time employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, who were on the payroll during the pay period including March 12. Included are employees on paid sick leave, paid holidays, and paid vacations; not included are proprietors and partners of unincorporated businesses, independent (commission) agents, and employees of departments or concessions operated by other firms. The definition of paid employees is the same as that used on IRS form 941.

Auxiliary establishments. Each company included in this census was asked to identify and separately report auxiliary locations whose primary functions were to manage, administer, service, or support the activities of the other establishments of the company. However, for companies classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), all establishments related to the financial and insurance activity were defined as "operating" regardless of their function and are included in this report. Data for all other auxiliary locations are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate, as defined in Division H of the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) manual, includes establishments operating primarily in the fields of finance, insurance, and real estate. Finance includes depository institutions, nondepository credit institutions, holding (but not predominantly operating) companies, other investment companies, brokers and dealers in securities and commodity contracts, and security and commodity exchanges. Insurance covers carriers of all types of insurance and insurance agents and brokers. Real estate includes owners, lessors, lessees, agents, and developers of real estate.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned kind-of-business classifications according to the industry classifications defined in the 1987 SIC manual. When a more detailed classification than defined in the SIC manual was needed, additional kinds of business were identified within an SIC industry.

The basis for a kind-of-business classification is described above in Method of Classifying Kinds of Business. Descriptions of those kinds of business for which data are provided in this report follow.

Depository Institutions (SIC Major Group 60)

This major group includes institutions that are engaged in deposit banking or closely related functions, including fiduciary activities.

These institutions generally do not receive deposits from, or make advances to, other enterprises or individuals.

Central reserve depository institutions, n.e.c. (SIC 6019). Central reserve depository institutions, other than Federal Reserve banks, primarily engaged in providing credit to and holding deposits and reserves for their members, such as savings banks, savings and loan associations, or credit unions.

National commercial banks (SIC 6021). Commercial banks and trust companies (accepting deposits) chartered under the National Bank Act. Trust companies engaged in fiduciary business, but not regularly engaged in deposit banking, are classified in Industry 6091.

State commercial banks (SIC 6022). Commercial banks and trust companies (accepting deposits) chartered by one of the States or territories. Trust companies engaged in fiduciary business, but not regularly engaged in deposit banking, are classified in Industry 6091.

Branches and agencies of foreign banks (SIC 6081). Establishments operating as branches or agencies of foreign banks which specialize in commercial loans, especially trade finance. They typically fund themselves via large denomination interbank deposits, rather than through smaller denomination retail deposits. Federally licensed agencies of foreign banks may not accept deposits. Federal branches may accept deposits; however, if they choose to accept deposits in denominations of $100,000 or less, Federal deposit insurance is required. Establishments which are owned by foreign banks but primarily engaged in accepting retail deposits from the general public in the United States are classified in Industry Group 602.

Foreign trade and international banking institutions (SIC 6082). Establishments of foreign trade companies operating in the United States under Federal or State charter for the purpose of aiding or financing foreign trade. Also included in this industry are Federal or State chartered banking institutions which only engage in banking outside the United States.

Nondeposit trust facilities (SIC 6091). Trust companies engaged in fiduciary business, but not regularly engaged in deposit banking. Some of these establishments occasionally hold limited amounts of special types of deposits, and their uninvested trust funds are usually classified as deposits. These nondeposit trust facilities may have either National or State charters. This industry does not include establishments operating under trust company charters which limit their fiduciary business to that incidental to real estate title or mortgage loan activities, which are classified in Industry 6361.

Functions related to depository banking, n.e.c. (SIC 6099). Establishments primarily engaged in performing functions related to depository banking, not elsewhere classified.

Introduction to the Economic Census

PURPOSES AND USES OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

The economic census is the major source of facts about the structure and functioning of the Nation's economy. It provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public.

The economic census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the gross domestic product, input/output measures, production and price indexes, and other statistical series that measure short-term changes in economic conditions.

Policymaking agencies of the Federal Government use the data, especially in monitoring economic activity and providing assistance to business.

State and local governments use the data to assess business activities and tax bases within their jurisdictions and to develop programs to attract business.

Trade associations study trends in their own and competing industries and keep their members informed of market changes.

Individual businesses use the data to locate potential markets and to analyze their own production and sales performance relative to industry or area averages.

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

Title 13 of the United States Code (sections 131, 191, and 224) directs the Census Bureau to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7. The 1992 Economic Census consists of the following eight censuses:

- Census of Retail Trade
- Census of Wholesale Trade
- Census of Service Industries
- Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries
- Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities
- Census of Manufactures
- Census of Mineral Industries
- Census of Construction Industries

Special programs also cover enterprise statistics and minority-owned and women-owned businesses. (The 1992 Census of Agriculture and 1992 Census of Governments are conducted separately.) The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

AVAILABILITY OF THE DATA

The results of the economic census are available in printed reports and on compact discs for sale by the Census Bureau. Order forms for all types of products are available on request from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-8300. A more complete description of publications being issued from this census is on the inside back cover of this document.

Census facts are also widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Finally, State data centers in every State as well as business and industry data centers in many States also supply economic census statistics.

WHAT'S NEW IN 1992

The 1992 Economic Census covers more of the economy than any previous census. New for 1992 are data on communications, utilities, financial, insurance, and real estate, as well as coverage of more transportation industries. The economic, agriculture, and governments censuses now collectively cover nearly 98 percent of all economic activity.

Among other changes, new 1992 definitions affect the boundaries of about a third of all metropolitan areas. Also, the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses has now been expanded to include all corporations.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The economic census has been taken as an integrated program at 5-year intervals since 1967 and before that for 1963, 1958, and 1954. Prior to that time, the individual subcomponents of the economic census were taken separately at varying intervals.

The economic census traces its beginnings to the 1810 Decennial Census, when questions on manufacturing were included with those for population. Coverage of economic activities was expanded for 1840 and subsequent censuses to include mining and some commercial activities. In 1902, Congress established a permanent Census Bureau and directed that a census of manufactures be taken every 5 years. The 1905 Manufactures Census was the first time a census was taken apart from the regular every-10-year population census.

The first census of business was taken in 1930, covering 1929. Initially it covered retail and wholesale trade and construction industries, but it was broadened in 1933 to include some of the service trades.

The 1954 Economic Census was the first census to be fully integrated—providing comparable census data across economic sectors, using consistent time periods, concepts, definitions, classifications, and reporting units. It was the first census to be taken by mail, using lists of firms provided by the administrative records of other Federal agencies. Since 1963, administrative records also have been used to provide basic statistics for very small firms, reducing or eliminating the need to send them census questionnaires. The Enterprise Statistics Program, which publishes combined data from the economic census, was made possible with the implementation of the integrated census program in 1954.

The range of industries covered in the economic censuses has continued to expand. The census of construction industries began on a regular basis in 1967, and the scope of service industries was broadened in 1967, 1977, and 1987. The census of transportation began in 1963 as a set of surveys covering travel, transportation of commodities, and trucks, but expanded in 1987 to cover business establishments in several transportation industries. For 1992, these statistics are incorporated into a broadened census of transportation, communications, and utilities. Also new for 1992 is the census of financial, insurance, and real estate industries. This is part of a gradual expansion in coverage of industries previously subjected to government regulation.

The Survey of Minority-Owned Business Enterprises was first conducted as a special project in 1969 and was incorporated into the economic census in 1972 along with the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses.

An economic census has also been taken in Puerto Rico since 1909, in the Virgin Islands of the United States and Guam since 1958, and in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands since 1982.

Statistical reports from the 1987 and earlier censuses provide historical figures for the study of long-term time series and are available in some large libraries. All of the census data published since 1967 are still available for sale on microfiche from the Census Bureau.

AVAILABILITY OF MORE FREQUENT ECONOMIC DATA

While the census provides complete enumerations every 5 years, there are many needs for more frequent data as well. The Census Bureau conducts a number of monthly, quarterly, and annual surveys, with the results appearing in publication series such as Current Business Reports (retail and wholesale trade and service industries), the Annual Survey of Manufactures, Current Industrial Reports, and the Quarterly Financial Report. Most of these surveys, while providing more frequent observations, yield less kind-of-business and geographic detail than the census. The County Business Patterns program offers annual statistics on the number of establishments, employment, and payroll classified by industry within each county.

SOURCES FOR MORE INFORMATION

More information about the scope, coverage, classification system, data items, and publications for each of the economic censuses and related surveys is published in the Guide to the 1992 Economic Census and Related Statistics. More information on the methodology, procedures, and history of the census will be published in the History of the 1992 Economic Census. Contact Customer Services for information on availability.

GENERAL

The 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate (FIRE) Industries, part of the 1992 Economic Census, covered financial, insurance, and real estate industries as defined in Division H of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC).

Data are presented for establishments in the following classifications:

SIC code	Title
60	Depository institutions
61	Nondepository credit institutions
62	Security and commodity brokers, dealers, exchanges, and services
63	Insurance carriers
64	Insurance agents, brokers, and service
65	Real estate
67	Holding and other investment offices

This report includes establishments with and without payroll.

Government-affiliated establishments in the covered industries are excluded from this report, with the exception of depository institutions under conservatorship of a governmental organization, central reserve institutions, and federally-sponsored credit agencies.

For firms classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), the basic tabulations in this report include establishments which are auxiliary (primary function is providing a service, such as an administrative office) to other establishments within the same organization. For firms classified in all other industries covered by this report, the basic tabulations do not include data for auxiliary establishments. Data for these auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

For the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries, large- and medium-size firms, plus all firms known to operate more than one establishment, were sent questionnaires to be completed and returned to the Census Bureau by mail. For selected very small firms, including those with no paid employees, data from existing administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead. These records provided basic information on location, kind of business, revenue, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization. In addition, more detailed information for selected kinds of business was obtained on the various questionnaires.

Appendix A gives a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, no data are published that would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business. However, the number of establishments in a kind-of-business classification is not considered a disclosure, so this information may be released even though other information is withheld.

GEOGRAPHIC AREAS COVERED

This report presents data for the following areas:

1. The United States as a whole.
2. Each State and the District of Columbia.
3. Each consolidated metropolitan statistical area (CMSA) and primary metropolitan statistical area (PMSA) defined by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) as of June 30, 1993. A CMSA is an area used to facilitate the presentation and analysis of data for large concentrations of metropolitan populations. It includes two or more contiguous PMSA's which have a population of at least 1,000,000<sup>2</sup> and which meet specific criteria of urban character and of social and economic integration.
4. Each metropolitan statistical area (MSA) defined by the OMB as of June 30, 1993. An MSA is an integrated economic and social unit with a population nucleus of at least 50,000 inhabitants.<sup>2</sup> Each MSA consists of one or more counties meeting standards of metropolitan character; in New England, cities and towns rather than counties are the component geographic units.

DOLLAR VALUES

All dollar values presented in this report are expressed in current dollars, i.e., 1992 data are expressed in 1992 dollars. Consequently, when making comparisons to prior years, users of the data should consider the inflation that has occurred.

RELIABILITY OF DATA

All data compiled in this report originated from either census questionnaires or administrative records of other Federal agencies and, therefore, are not subject to sampling errors. However, the data are subject to nonsampling errors. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to identify all cases in the actual universe; definition and classification difficulties; differences in the interpretation of questions; errors in recording or coding the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, processing, and estimation for missing or misreported data.

The accuracy of these tabulated data is determined by the joint effects of the various nonsampling errors. No direct measurement of these effects has been obtained except for estimation for missing or misreported data; however, precautionary steps were taken in all phases of the collection, processing, and tabulation of the data in an effort to minimize the effects of nonsampling errors.

The Bureau of the Census obtains on computer tape limited information extracted from administrative records of other Federal agencies. This information is used in conjunction with other information available to the Census Bureau to develop estimates for nonemployers, small employers, and other establishments for which responses were not received in time for publication. Also, see appendix A for a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries may be obtained, depending on availability of time and personnel, on diskette, computer tape, or in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind of business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Services Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

To discuss a special tabulation before submitting specifications, call 1-800-541-8345.

General Explanation

CENSUS COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Structure and method of enumeration. Firms in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries were divided into the nonmail universe and mail universe. The coverage and the method of obtaining census information from each follow:

1. The nonmail universe consisted of firms which were not required to file a regular census return and included:
  - a. All nonemployers, i.e., all firms with no paid employees during 1992. Revenue information for these firms was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies. Although consisting of many firms, nonemployers accounted for less than 6 percent of total revenue of all establishments covered in the census.

The census included only those financial, insurance, and real estate nonemployer firms which reported a minimum revenue volume of $1,000 or more during 1992, plus firms in operation for less than the full year that reported revenue which, if projected to an annual basis, would have reached a total of $1,000 or more. Records with extremely large revenues were excluded. The large revenue was assumed to be unreasonable for firms without employees. It was assumed to be caused by errors in reporting or data capture, or to cover activities conducted (and reported) by firms with paid employees. Standard upper limits were applied to these industries, which may underestimate the number of establishments and revenue of nonemployer firms. In particular, users may notice an apparent decrease in SIC 6552 from 1987 due to the application of the upper size limit, which was not used for this industry in the last census.

Data for nonemployers are included in this report.

- b. Selected small employers, i.e., single-establishment firms with payroll below a specified cutoff classified in Major Group 64. (The term "employers" refers to firms with one or more paid employees at any time during 1992 as shown in the active administrative records of other Federal agencies.) Small employers generally included firms with fewer than 10 employees and represented about 20 percent of total revenue of establishments in Major Group 64.

Data on revenue, payroll, and employment for employer firms below the payroll cutoff were derived or estimated from administrative records of other Federal agencies, except for a sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data requirements precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. This sample was included in the mail universe.

2. The mail universe consisted of firms for which information was obtained by means of a mail canvass and included:

- a. Large employers, i.e., all multiestablishment firms, and all employer firms above the payroll size cutoff referred to in section 1b. Within this category, a report of company organization was conducted periodically to identify establishment locations of firms which operated at more than one location and to obtain information on payroll and mid-March employment at each location. The 1991 Report of Company Organization was used as a coverage check in the census. In the 1992 census, all multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these establishments.

In the 1992 census, multiestablishment firms were divided into two categories of report forms, State and establishment. Firms with establishments classified in selected banking (SIC 60) and insurance (SIC 63) industries were sent report forms to collect information for each State in which those firms operated. In addition to the information reported in summary for the State, those firms were asked to report the payroll and mid-March employment for each establishment operated in the State. All other establishments of multiestablishment firms classified in all other financial, insurance, and real estate industries were sent individual report forms for each location.

All multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any States or establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these States or establishments.

- b. The sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. These firms were sent the census mailing packages containing the appropriate 1992 questionnaire.

Method of classifying kinds of business. The financial, insurance, and real estate industries classifications for all establishments were based on the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC). However, the method of assigning these classifications, and the level of detail at which establishments were classified, differed between the nonmail and mail universes as follows:

1. The nonmail universe
  - a. Nonemployers were classified on the basis of information obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.
  - b. Selected small employers in Major Group 64 were classified on the basis of a brief inquiry requesting information necessary to assign a 1992 census kind-of-business code, or the classification was obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies.
2. Establishments in the mail universe were classified on the basis of their self-designation, sources of revenue, and other special inquiries.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Establishments. An establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted. It is not necessarily identical with a company or enterprise, which may consist of one establishment or more. Statistics for financial, insurance, and real estate industries represent a summary of reports for individual establishments rather than companies. For cases where a census report was received, separate information was obtained for each location where business was conducted. When administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead of a census report, no information was available on the number of locations operated. Estimates of this number were derived from a sample and are provided in the financial, insurance, and real estate industries report, Miscellaneous Subjects (FC92-S-3). Each census report was tabulated according to the physical location at which the business was conducted. The count of establishments represents those in business at any time during 1992.

When two activities or more were carried on at a single location under a single ownership, all activities generally were grouped together as a single establishment. The entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity and all data for it were included in that classification. However, when distinct and separate economic activities (for which different industry classification codes were appropriate) were conducted at a single location under a single ownership, and when conditions prescribed by the SIC manual for recognizing the existence of more than one establishment were met, separate establishment reports for each of the different activities were obtained in the census.

Firms. A firm is a business organization or entity consisting of one domestic establishment (location) or more under common ownership or control. All establishments of subsidiary firms are included as part of the owning or controlling firm. For the economic census, the terms "firm" and "company" are synonymous.

Revenue (Basic dollar volume measure for financial, insurance, and real estate establishments covered by the census). Revenue from all business activities whether or not payment was received in 1992, including net premiums earned by insurance carriers, commissions and fees from all sources, rents, net investment income, interest, dividends, and royalties. Rental revenue from leasing property marketed under operating leases is included, as well as interest earned from property marketed in 1992 under capital, finance, or full payout leases. Revenue also includes the total value of service contracts, amounts received for work subcontracted to others, rents from property sublet to others, and dues and assessments from members.

Revenue does not include sales and other taxes collected from customers and remitted directly by the firm to a local, State, or Federal tax agency. Revenue in this report does not include financial, insurance, or real estate revenue of manufacturers, wholesalers, retail or service establishments, or other businesses whose primary activity is other than finance, insurance, or real estate.

Annual payroll. Payroll includes all forms of compensation, such as salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, vacation allowances, sick-leave pay, employee contributions to qualified pension plans, and the value of payments in kind (e.g. free meals and lodgings) paid during the year to all employees. Tips and gratuities received by employees from patrons and reported to employers are included. For corporations, payroll includes amounts paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include profit or other compensation of proprietors or partners. Payroll does not include commissions paid to independent (nonemployee) agents, such as insurance and real estate agents. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, union dues, etc. This definition of payroll is the same as that used by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on form 941.

Legal form of organization. The legal form of organization for firms in the mail universe was based on the response to the organizational status inquiry on the various census forms. The legal form of organization of nonmail firms was generally based on information from administrative records of other Federal agencies.

Limited data are published in this report on number of individual proprietors and partnerships. The financial, insurance, and real estate industries report, Establishment and Firm Size (Including Legal Form of Organization), FC92-S-1, presents data by the following legal forms for establishments with payroll:

1. Corporations.
2. Individual proprietorships.
3. Partnerships.
4. Other.

Auxiliary establishments. Each company included in this census was asked to identify and separately report auxiliary locations whose primary functions were to manage, administer, service, or support the activities of the other establishments of the company. However, for companies classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), all establishments related to the financial and insurance activity were defined as "operating" regardless of their function and are included in this report. Data for all other auxiliary locations are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate, as defined in Division H of the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) manual, includes establishments operating primarily in the fields of finance, insurance, and real estate. Finance includes depository institutions, nondepository credit institutions, holding (but not predominantly operating) companies, other investment companies, brokers and dealers in securities and commodity contracts, and security and commodity exchanges. Insurance covers carriers of all types of insurance, and insurance agents and brokers. Real estate includes owners, lessors, lessees, agents, and developers of real estate.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned kind-of-business classifications according to the industry classifications defined in the 1987 SIC manual. When a more detailed classification than defined in the SIC manual was needed, additional kinds of business were identified within an SIC industry.

The basis for a kind-of-business classification is described above in "Method of classifying kinds of business." Descriptions of those kinds of business for which data are provided in this report follow.

Depository Institutions (SIC Major Group 60)

This major group includes institutions that are engaged in deposit banking or closely related functions, including fiduciary activities.

Federal reserve banks (SIC 6011). Central reserve depository institutions whose primary activity is receiving deposits from Federal Reserve banks and branches and providing advances to such institutions. These institutions generally do not receive deposits from, or make advances to, other enterprises or individuals.

Central reserve depository institutions, n.e.c. (SIC 6019). Central reserve depository institutions, other than Federal Reserve banks, primarily engaged in providing credit to and holding deposits and reserves for their members, such as savings banks, savings and loan associations, or credit unions.

National commercial banks (SIC 6021). Commercial banks and trust companies (accepting deposits) chartered under the National Bank Act. Trust companies engaged in fiduciary business, but not regularly engaged in deposit banking, are classified in Industry 6091.

State commercial banks (SIC 6022). Commercial banks and trust companies (accepting deposits) chartered by one of the States or territories. Trust companies engaged in fiduciary business, but not regularly engaged in deposit banking, are classified in Industry 6091.

Commercial banks, n.e.c. (SIC 6029). Commercial banks (accepting deposits) which do not operate under Federal or State charter. Establishments classified here are included with SIC 6022.

Savings institutions, federally chartered (SIC 6035). Federally chartered savings institutions (accepting deposits) operating under Federal charter.

Savings institutions, not federally chartered (SIC 6036). State-chartered savings institutions (accepting deposits) which do not operate under Federal charter.

Credit unions, federally chartered (SIC 6061). Cooperative thrift and loan associations (accepting deposits) organized under Federal charter to finance credit needs of their members.

Credit unions, not federally chartered (SIC 6062). Cooperative thrift and loan associations (accepting deposits) organized under other than Federal charter to finance credit needs of their members.

Branches and agencies of foreign banks (SIC 6081). Establishments operating as branches or agencies of foreign banks which specialize in commercial loans, especially trade finance. They typically fund themselves via large denomination interbank deposits, rather than through smaller denomination retail deposits. Federally licensed agencies of foreign banks may not accept deposits. Federal branches may accept deposits; however, if they choose to accept deposits in denominations of $100,000 or less, Federal deposit insurance is required. Establishments which are owned by foreign banks but primarily engaged in accepting retail deposits from the general public in the United States are classified in Industry Group 602.

Foreign trade and international banking institutions (SIC 6082). Establishments of foreign trade companies operating in the United States under Federal or State charter for the purpose of aiding or financing foreign trade. Also included in this industry are Federal or State chartered banking institutions which only engage in banking outside the United States.

Nondeposit trust facilities (SIC 6091). Trust companies engaged in fiduciary business, but not regularly engaged in deposit banking. Some of these establishments occasionally hold limited amounts of special types of deposits, and their uninvested trust funds are usually classified as deposits. These nondeposit trust facilities may have either National or State charters. This industry does not include establishments operating under trust company charters which limit their fiduciary business to that incidental to real estate title or mortgage loan activities, which are classified in Industry 6361.

Functions related to depository banking, n.e.c. (SIC 6099). Establishments primarily engaged in performing functions related to depository banking, not elsewhere classified.

Nondepository Credit Institutions (SIC Major Group 61)

This major group includes establishments engaged in extending credit in the form of loans, but not engaged in deposit banking.

Federal and federally-sponsored credit agencies (SIC 6111). Establishments of federally-sponsored credit agencies primarily engaged in guaranteeing, insuring, or making loans. Federally-sponsored credit agencies are established under authority of Federal legislation, but are not regarded as part of the Government. They are often owned by their members or borrowers. Data for Federal credit agencies are not included.

For large geographic areas in some reports, data are presented for the following subdivisions of this classification:

1. Farm credit system.
2. Federally-sponsored credit agencies, except farm credit system.

Personal credit institutions (SIC 6141). Establishments primarily engaged in providing loans to individuals. Also included in this industry are establishments primarily engaged in financing retail sales made on the installment plan and financing automobile loans for individuals.

For large geographic areas in some reports, data are presented for the following subdivisions of this classification:

1. Automotive sales finance companies.
2. Sales finance companies, except automotive.
3. Consumer and personal finance companies, and personal and small loan companies.
4. Personal credit institutions, n.e.c.

Introduction to the Economic Census

PURPOSES AND USES OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

The economic census is the major source of facts about the structure and functioning of the Nation's economy. It provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public.

The economic census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the gross domestic product, input/output measures, production and price indexes, and other statistical series that measure short-term changes in economic conditions.

Policymaking agencies of the Federal Government use the data, especially in monitoring economic activity and providing assistance to business.

State and local governments use the data to assess business activities and tax bases within their jurisdictions and to develop programs to attract business.

Trade associations study trends in their own and competing industries and keep their members informed of market changes.

Individual businesses use the data to locate potential markets and to analyze their own production and sales performance relative to industry or area averages.

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

Title 13 of the United States Code (sections 131, 191, and 224) directs the Census Bureau to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7. The 1992 Economic Census consists of the following eight censuses:

- Census of Retail Trade
- Census of Wholesale Trade
- Census of Service Industries
- Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries
- Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities
- Census of Manufactures
- Census of Mineral Industries
- Census of Construction Industries

Special programs also cover enterprise statistics and minority-owned and women-owned businesses. (The 1992 Census of Agriculture and 1992 Census of Governments are conducted separately.) The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

AVAILABILITY OF THE DATA

The results of the economic census are available in printed reports for sale by the U.S. Government Printing Office and on compact discs for sale by the Census Bureau. Order forms for all types of products are available on request from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-8300. A more complete description of publications being issued from this census is on the inside back cover of this document.

Census facts are also widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Finally, State data centers in every State as well as business and industry data centers in many States also supply economic census statistics.

WHAT'S NEW IN 1992

The 1992 Economic Census covers more of the economy than any previous census. New for 1992 are data on communications, utilities, financial, insurance, and real estate, as well as coverage of more transportation industries. The economic, agriculture, and governments censuses now collectively cover nearly 98 percent of all economic activity.

Among other changes, new 1992 definitions affect the boundaries of about a third of all metropolitan areas. Also, the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses has now been expanded to include all corporations.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The economic census has been taken as an integrated program at 5-year intervals since 1967 and before that for 1963, 1958, and 1954. Prior to that time, the individual subcomponents of the economic census were taken separately at varying intervals.

The economic census traces its beginnings to the 1810 Decennial Census, when questions on manufacturing were included with those for population. Coverage of economic activities was expanded for 1840 and subsequent censuses to include mining and some commercial activities. In 1902, Congress established a permanent Census Bureau and directed that a census of manufactures be taken every 5 years. The 1905 Manufactures Census was the first time a census was taken apart from the regular every-10-year population census.

The first census of business was taken in 1930, covering 1929. Initially it covered retail and wholesale trade and construction industries, but it was broadened in 1933 to include some of the service trades.

The 1954 Economic Census was the first census to be fully integrated—providing comparable census data across economic sectors, using consistent time periods, concepts, definitions, classifications, and reporting units. It was the first census to be taken by mail, using lists of firms provided by the administrative records of other Federal agencies. Since 1963, administrative records also have been used to provide basic statistics for very small firms, reducing or eliminating the need to send them census questionnaires. The Enterprise Statistics Program, which publishes combined data from the economic census, was made possible with the implementation of the integrated census program in 1954.

The range of industries covered in the economic censuses has continued to expand. The census of construction industries began on a regular basis in 1967, and the scope of service industries was broadened in 1967, 1977, and 1987. The census of transportation began in 1963 as a set of surveys covering travel, transportation of commodities, and trucks, but expanded in 1987 to cover business establishments in several transportation industries. For 1992, these statistics are incorporated into a broadened census of transportation, communications, and utilities. Also new for 1992 is the census of financial, insurance, and real estate industries. This is part of a gradual expansion in coverage of industries previously subjected to government regulation.

The Survey of Minority-Owned Business Enterprises was first conducted as a special project in 1969 and was incorporated into the economic census in 1972 along with the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses.

An economic census has also been taken in Puerto Rico since 1909, in the Virgin Islands of the United States and Guam since 1958, and in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands since 1982.

Statistical reports from the 1987 and earlier censuses provide historical figures for the study of long-term time series and are available in some large libraries. All of the census data published since 1967 are still available for sale on microfiche from the Census Bureau.

AVAILABILITY OF MORE FREQUENT ECONOMIC DATA

While the census provides complete enumerations every 5 years, there are many needs for more frequent data as well. The Census Bureau conducts a number of monthly, quarterly, and annual surveys, with the results appearing in publication series such as Current Business Reports (retail and wholesale trade and service industries), the Annual Survey of Manufactures, Current Industrial Reports, and the Quarterly Financial Report. Most of these surveys, while providing more frequent observations, yield less kind-of-business and geographic detail than the census. The County Business Patterns program offers annual statistics on the number of establishments, employment, and payroll classified by industry within each county.

SOURCES FOR MORE INFORMATION

More information about the scope, coverage, classification system, data items, and publications for each of the economic censuses and related surveys is published in the Guide to the 1992 Economic Census and Related Statistics. More information on the methodology, procedures, and history of the census will be published in the History of the 1992 Economic Census. Contact Customer Services for information on availability.

GENERAL

The 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate (FIRE) Industries, part of the 1992 Economic Census, covered financial, insurance, and real estate industries as defined in Division H of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC).

Data are presented for establishments in the following classifications:

SIC code	Title
60	Depository institutions
61	Nondepository credit institutions
62	Security and commodity brokers, dealers, exchanges, and services
63	Insurance carriers
64	Insurance agents, brokers, and service
65	Real estate
67	Holding and other investment offices

This report includes only establishments with payroll.

Government-affiliated establishments in the covered industries are excluded from this report, with the exception of depository institutions under conservatorship of a governmental organization, central reserve institutions, and federally-sponsored credit agencies.

For firms classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), the basic tabulations in this report include establishments which are auxiliary (primary function is providing a service, such as an administrative office) to other establishments within the same organization. For firms classified in all other industries covered by this report, the basic tabulations do not include data for auxiliary establishments. Data for these auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

For the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries, large- and medium-size firms, plus all firms known to operate more than one establishment, were sent questionnaires to be completed and returned to the Census Bureau by mail. For selected very small firms, including those with no paid employees, data from existing administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead. These records provided basic information on location, kind of business, revenue, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization. In addition, more detailed information for selected kinds of business was obtained on the various questionnaires.

Appendix A gives a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

ESTABLISHMENT AND FIRM SIZE

This report represents a recompilation of data collected in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries and is divided into three categories: size of establishment, size of firm, and legal form of organization.

Size of establishment. Only establishments which operated the entire year have been classified into the various size groups used in the establishment size tables (tables 1 and 2). An establishment is classified as "operated entire year" if it operated 10 months or more during the year. Data for establishments which reported that they were in operation fewer than 10 months are separately summarized as "not operated entire year."

Revenue size. Data in table 1 are classified into revenue size groups depending on the value of revenue reported for the year 1992.

Employment size. Data in table 2 are classified into employment size groups depending on the number of employees on the payroll during the pay period including March 12, 1992. Proprietors, partners, and unpaid family workers were not regarded as employees in determining the employment size of an establishment.

Size of firm. A firm may be either a single establishment (single unit) firm or a multiestablishment (multiunit) firm. Firm size groups are based on aggregate data for all establishments operated by the same firm in the kind-of-business classification, group, or total for which data are presented. For example, a firm operates two real estate establishments: it owns and leases out a shopping center property (SIC 6512), and also manages a shopping center on contract for others (SIC 6531). At each of the two most detailed levels of classification, each of the establishments is a single unit operated by a multiunit firm. At the real estate major group level (SIC 65), the two establishments comprise a two-establishment multiunit. In tables 3 through 6, data are presented based on revenue size of firm, employment size of firm, concentration by largest firms, as well as for single unit and multiunit firms (by number of establishments operated). In tables 4 and 5, only firms which operated the entire year are classified into the various size groups. A firm is considered to have "operated entire year" if any of its establishments at that SIC level operated 10 months or more during the year. Data for firms which reported that none of their establishments operated 10 months or more are separately summarized as "not operated entire year."

Single unit and multiunit firms. Data in table 3 are classified into firm size groups based on the number of establishments operated. A single unit firm is a firm with only one establishment engaged in economic activities. A multiunit (multiestablishment) firm is a firm with two establishments or more engaged in economic activities. A multiestablishment firm may, however, operate only one establishment classified in financial, insurance, and real estate industries.

Revenue size. Data in table 4 are classified into revenue size groups depending on the value of revenue reported for 1992.

Employment size. Data in table 5 are classified into employment size groups depending on the number of employees on the payroll during the pay period including March 12, 1992. Proprietors, partners, and unpaid family workers were not regarded as employees in determining the employment size of a firm.

Concentration of largest firms. Data in table 6 are presented separately for the 4, 8, 20, and 50 largest firms based on total revenue.

Legal form of organization. Data in table 7 are presented for firms by legal form of organization for four separate categories. For the method of assigning legal form, see Explanation of Terms, Legal form of organization, in appendix A.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, no data are published that would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business. However, the number of establishments in a kind-of-business classification is not considered a disclosure, so this information may be released even though other information is withheld.

VI CENSUS OF FIRE INDUSTRIES

GEOGRAPHIC AREAS COVERED

This report presents data by kind of business for the United States as a whole.

DOLLAR VALUES

All dollar values presented in this report are expressed in current dollars, i.e., 1992 data are expressed in 1992 dollars. Consequently, when making comparisons to prior years, users of the data should consider the inflation that has occurred.

RELIABILITY OF DATA

All data compiled in this report originated from either census questionnaires or administrative records of other Federal agencies and, therefore, are not subject to sampling errors. However, the data are subject to nonsampling errors. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to identify all cases in the actual universe; definition and classification difficulties; differences in the interpretation of questions; errors in recording or coding the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, processing, and estimation for missing or misreported data.

The accuracy of these tabulated data is determined by the joint effects of the various nonsampling errors. No direct measurement of these effects has been obtained except for estimation for missing or misreported data; however, precautionary steps were taken in all phases of the collection, processing, and tabulation of the data in an effort to minimize the effects of nonsampling errors.

The Bureau of the Census obtains on computer tape limited information extracted from administrative records of other Federal agencies. This information is used in conjunction with other information available to the Census Bureau to develop estimates for nonemployers, small employers, and other establishments for which responses were not received in time for publication. For an indication of the extent that data included in these reports were obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies and from estimation, rather than reports directly from respondents, see appendix E. Also, see appendix A for a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries may be obtained, depending on availability of time and personnel, on diskette, computer tape, or in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind of business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Services Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

To discuss a special tabulation before submitting specifications, call 1-800-541-8345.

General Explanation

CENSUS COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Structure and method of enumeration. Firms in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries were divided into the nonmail universe and mail universe. The coverage and the method of obtaining census information from each follow:

1. The nonmail universe consisted of firms which were not required to file a regular census return and included:

a. All nonemployers, i.e., all firms with no paid employees during 1992. Revenue information for these firms was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies. Although consisting of many firms, nonemployers accounted for less than 6 percent of total revenue of all establishments covered in the census.

The census included only those financial, insurance, and real estate nonemployer firms which reported a revenue volume of $1,000 or more during 1992.

Data for nonemployers are not included in this report but are provided in a separate Nonemployer Statistics report (FC92-N-1).

b. Selected small employers, i.e., single-establishment firms with payroll below a specified cutoff classified in Major Group 64. (The term "employers" refers to firms with one or more paid employees at any time during 1992 as shown in the active administrative records of other Federal agencies.) Small employers generally included firms with fewer than 10 employees and represented about 20 percent of total revenue of establishments in Major Group 64.

Data on revenue, payroll, and employment for employer firms below the payroll cutoff were derived or estimated from administrative records of other Federal agencies, except for a sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data requirements precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. This sample was included in the mail universe.

2. The mail universe consisted of firms for which information was obtained by means of a mail canvass and included:

a. Large employers, i.e., all multiestablishment firms, and all employer firms above the payroll size cutoff referred to in section 1b. Within this category, a report of company organization was conducted periodically to identify establishment locations of firms which operated at more than one location and to obtain information on payroll and mid-March employment at each location. The 1991 Report of Company Organization was used as a coverage check in the census. In the 1992 census, all multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these establishments.

In the 1992 census, multiestablishment firms were divided into two categories of report forms, State and establishment. Firms with establishments classified in selected banking (SIC 60) and insurance (SIC 63) industries were sent report forms to collect information for each State in which those firms operated. In addition to the information reported in summary for the State, those firms were asked to report the payroll and mid-March employment for each establishment operated in the State. All other establishments of multiestablishment firms classified in all other financial, insurance, and real estate industries were sent individual report forms for each location.

All multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any States or establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these States or establishments.

b. The sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. These firms were sent the census mailing packages containing the appropriate 1992 questionnaire.

Method of classifying kinds of business. The financial, insurance, and real estate industries classifications for all establishments were based on the Standard Industrial

Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC). However, the method of assigning these classifications, and the level of detail at which establishments were classified, differed between the nonmail and mail universes as follows:

1. The nonmail universe
  - a. Nonemployers were classified on the basis of information obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.
  - b. Selected small employers in Major Group 64 were classified on the basis of a brief inquiry requesting information necessary to assign a 1992 census kind-of-business code, or the classification was obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies.
2. Establishments in the mail universe were classified on the basis of their self-designation, sources of revenue, and other special inquiries.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Establishments. An establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted. It is not necessarily identical with a company or enterprise, which may consist of one establishment or more. Statistics for financial, insurance, and real estate industries represent a summary of reports for individual establishments rather than companies. For cases where a census report was received, separate information was obtained for each location where business was conducted. When administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead of a census report, no information was available on the number of locations operated. Estimates of this number were derived from a sample and are provided in the financial, insurance, and real estate industries report, Miscellaneous Subjects (FC92-S-3). Each census report was tabulated according to the physical location at which the business was conducted. The count of establishments represents those in business at any time during 1992. Appendix G, of this report, provides a comparison of the number of establishments active any time during the year versus the number in business at the end of the year.

When two activities or more were carried on at a single location under a single ownership, all activities generally were grouped together as a single establishment. The entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity and all data for it were included in that classification. However, when distinct and separate economic activities (for which different industry classification codes were appropriate) were conducted at a single location under a single ownership, and when conditions prescribed by the SIC manual for recognizing the existence of more than one establishment were met, separate establishment reports for each of the different activities were obtained in the census.

Firms. A firm is a business organization or entity consisting of one domestic establishment (location) or more under common ownership or control. All establishments of subsidiary firms are included as part of the owning or controlling firm. For the economic census, the terms "firm" and "company" are synonymous.

Revenue (Basic dollar volume measure for financial, insurance, and real estate establishments covered by the census). Revenue from all business activities whether or not payment was received in 1992, including net premiums earned by insurance carriers, commissions and fees from all sources, rents, net investment income, interest, dividends, and royalties. Rental revenue from leasing property marketed under operating leases is included, as well as interest earned from property marketed in 1992 under capital, finance, or full payout leases. Revenue also includes the total value of service contracts, amounts received for work subcontracted to others, rents from property sublet to others, and dues and assessments from members.

Revenue does not include sales and other taxes collected from customers and remitted directly by the firm to a local, State, or Federal tax agency. Revenue in this report does not include financial, insurance, or real estate revenue of manufacturers, wholesalers, retail, or service establishments, or other businesses whose primary activity is other than finance, insurance, or real estate.

Annual payroll. Payroll includes all forms of compensation, such as salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, vacation allowances, sick-leave pay, employee contributions to qualified pension plans, and the value of payments in kind (e.g. free meals and lodgings) paid during the year to all employees. Tips and gratuities received by employees from patrons and reported to employers are included. For corporations, payroll includes amounts paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include profit or other compensation of proprietors or partners. Payroll does not include commissions paid to independent (nonemployee) agents, such as insurance and real estate agents. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, union dues, etc. This definition of payroll is the same as that used by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on form 941.

First-quarter payroll. This item consists of payroll, as defined above, paid to persons employed at any time during the quarter January to March, 1992.

Paid employees for pay period including March 12. Paid employees consist of the full- and part-time employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, who were on the payroll during the pay period including March 12. Included are employees on paid sick leave, paid holidays, and paid vacations; not included are proprietors and partners of unincorporated businesses, independent (commission) agents, and employees of departments or concessions operated by other firms. The definition of paid employees is the same as that used on IRS form 941.

Legal form of organization. The legal form of organization for firms in the mail universe was based on the response to the organizational status inquiry on the various census forms. The legal form of organization of nonmail firms was generally based on information from administrative records of other Federal agencies.

This report presents data by the following legal forms of organization:

1. Corporations.
2. Individual proprietorships.
3. Partnerships.
4. Other.

Auxiliary establishments. Each company included in this census was asked to identify and separately report auxiliary locations whose primary functions were to manage, administer, service, or support the activities of the other establishments of the company. However, for companies classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), all establishments related to the financial and insurance activity were defined as "operating" regardless of their function and are included in this report. Data for all other auxiliary locations are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate, as defined in Division H of the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) manual, includes establishments operating primarily in the fields of finance, insurance, and real estate. Finance includes depository institutions, nondepository credit institutions, holding (but not predominantly operating) companies, other investment companies, brokers and dealers in securities and commodity contracts, and security and commodity exchanges. Insurance covers carriers of all types of insurance, and insurance agents and brokers. Real estate includes owners, lessors, lessees, agents, and developers of real estate.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned kind-of-business classifications according to the industry classifications defined in the 1987 SIC manual. When a more detailed classification than defined in the SIC manual was needed, additional kinds of business were identified within an SIC industry.

The basis for a kind-of-business classification is described above in "Method of classifying kinds of business." Descriptions of those kinds of business for which data are provided in this report follow.

Introduction to the Economic Census

PURPOSES AND USES OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

The economic census is the major source of facts about the structure and functioning of the Nation's economy. It provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public.

The economic census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the gross domestic product, input/output measures, production and price indexes, and other statistical series that measure short-term changes in economic conditions.

Policymaking agencies of the Federal Government use the data, especially in monitoring economic activity and providing assistance to business.

State and local governments use the data to assess business activities and tax bases within their jurisdictions and to develop programs to attract business.

Trade associations study trends in their own and competing industries and keep their members informed of market changes.

Individual businesses use the data to locate potential markets and to analyze their own production and sales performance relative to industry or area averages.

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

Title 13 of the United States Code (sections 131, 191, and 224) directs the Census Bureau to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7. The 1992 Economic Census consists of the following eight censuses:

- Census of Retail Trade
- Census of Wholesale Trade
- Census of Service Industries
- Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries
- Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities
- Census of Manufactures
- Census of Mineral Industries
- Census of Construction Industries

Special programs also cover enterprise statistics and minority-owned and women-owned businesses. (The 1992 Census of Agriculture and 1992 Census of Governments are conducted separately.) The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

AVAILABILITY OF THE DATA

The results of the economic census are available in printed reports for sale by the U.S. Government Printing Office and on compact discs for sale by the Census Bureau. Order forms for all types of products are available on request from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-0001. A more complete description of publications being issued from this census is on the inside back cover of this document.

Census facts are also widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Finally, State data centers in every State as well as business and industry data centers in many States also supply economic census statistics.

WHAT'S NEW IN 1992

The 1992 Economic Census covers more of the economy than any previous census. New for 1992 are data on communications, utilities, financial, insurance, and real estate, as well as coverage of more transportation industries. The economic, agriculture, and governments censuses now collectively cover nearly 98 percent of all economic activity.

Among other changes, new 1992 definitions affect the boundaries of about a third of all metropolitan areas. Also, the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses has now been expanded to include all corporations.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The economic census has been taken as an integrated program at 5-year intervals since 1967 and before that for 1963, 1958, and 1954. Prior to that time, the individual subcomponents of the economic census were taken separately at varying intervals.

The economic census traces its beginnings to the 1810 Decennial Census, when questions on manufacturing were included with those for population. Coverage of economic activities was expanded for 1840 and subsequent censuses to include mining and some commercial activities. In 1902, Congress established a permanent Census Bureau and directed that a census of manufactures be taken every 5 years. The 1905 Manufactures Census was the first time a census was taken apart from the regular every-10-year population census.

The first census of business was taken in 1930, covering 1929. Initially it covered retail and wholesale trade and construction industries, but it was broadened in 1933 to include some of the service trades.

The 1954 Economic Census was the first census to be fully integrated—providing comparable census data across economic sectors, using consistent time periods, concepts, definitions, classifications, and reporting units. It was the first census to be taken by mail, using lists of firms provided by the administrative records of other Federal agencies. Since 1963, administrative records also have been used to provide basic statistics for very small firms, reducing or eliminating the need to send them census questionnaires. The Enterprise Statistics Program, which publishes combined data from the economic census, was made possible with the implementation of the integrated census program in 1954.

The range of industries covered in the economic censuses has continued to expand. The census of construction industries began on a regular basis in 1967, and the scope of service industries was broadened in 1967, 1977, and 1987. The census of transportation began in 1963 as a set of surveys covering travel, transportation of commodities, and trucks, but expanded in 1987 to cover business establishments in several transportation industries. For 1992, these statistics are incorporated into a broadened census of transportation, communications, and utilities. Also new for 1992 is the census of financial, insurance, and real estate industries. This is part of a gradual expansion in coverage of industries previously subjected to government regulation.

The Survey of Minority-Owned Business Enterprises was first conducted as a special project in 1969 and was incorporated into the economic census in 1972 along with the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses.

An economic census has also been taken in Puerto Rico since 1909, in the Virgin Islands of the United States and Guam since 1958, and in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands since 1982.

Statistical reports from the 1987 and earlier censuses provide historical figures for the study of long-term time series and are available in some large libraries. All of the census data published since 1967 are still available for sale on microfiche from the Census Bureau.

AVAILABILITY OF MORE FREQUENT ECONOMIC DATA

While the census provides complete enumerations every 5 years, there are many needs for more frequent data as well. The Census Bureau conducts a number of monthly, quarterly, and annual surveys, with the results appearing in publication series such as Current Business Reports (retail and wholesale trade and service industries), the Annual Survey of Manufactures, Current Industrial Reports, and the Quarterly Financial Report. Most of these surveys, while providing more frequent observations, yield less kind-of-business and geographic detail than the census. The County Business Patterns program offers annual statistics on the number of establishments, employment, and payroll classified by industry within each county.

SOURCES FOR MORE INFORMATION

More information about the scope, coverage, classification system, data items, and publications for each of the economic censuses and related surveys is published in the Guide to the 1992 Economic Census and Related Statistics. More information on the methodology, procedures, and history of the census will be published in the History of the 1992 Economic Census. Contact Customer Services for information on availability.

GENERAL

The 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate (FIRE) Industries, part of the 1992 Economic Census, covered financial, insurance, and real estate industries as defined in Division H of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC).

Data are presented for establishments in the following classifications:

SIC code	Title
60	Depository institutions
61	Nondepository credit institutions
62	Security and commodity brokers, dealers, exchanges, and services
63	Insurance carriers
64	Insurance agents, brokers, and service
65	Real estate
67	Holding and other investment offices

This report includes only establishments with payroll.

Government-affiliated establishments in the covered industries are excluded from this report, with the exception of depository institutions under conservatorship of a governmental organization, central reserve institutions, and federally-sponsored credit agencies.

For firms classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), the basic tabulations in this report include establishments which are auxiliary (primary function is providing a service, such as an administrative office) to other establishments within the same organization. For firms classified in all other industries covered by this report, the basic tabulations do not include data for auxiliary establishments. Data for these auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

For the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries, large- and medium-size firms, plus all firms known to operate more than one establishment, were sent questionnaires to be completed and returned to the Census Bureau by mail. For selected very small firms, including those with no paid employees, data from existing administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead. These records provided basic information on location, kind of business, revenue, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization. In addition, more detailed information for selected kinds of business was obtained on the various questionnaires.

Appendix A gives a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

SOURCES OF REVENUE

This report represents a recompilation of establishment and revenue data collected in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries according to various categories of sources of revenue. Tables in this report present data only for establishments with payroll. An individual establishment (i.e., business location) is the unit to which a single kind-of-business classification is assigned and for which data are summarized in most census tabulations.

Revenue is presented in this report by broad revenue line category. In planning the revenue line inquiries for the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries, the Bureau of the Census consulted extensively with trade associations and businesses. The amount of detail requested in the census primarily reflected considerations for reportability.

Sixty-one broad revenue lines were devised to account for all the sources of revenue regardless of kind-of-business classification. These lines are identified in the tables by revenue line codes ending in "0." In addition to the broad revenue lines, detail within some of these broad lines was requested on many of the report forms. These detail lines are identified in the tables by revenue line codes ending with a digit other "0." Unlike the broad lines, the detail lines were adapted to the revenue line characteristics of an individual kind of business or a group of closely related kinds of businesses. Thus, while it is possible to compute a total for each of the broad revenue lines to cover all kinds of business, no such totals can be calculated for the detail lines.

Appendix I gives revenue line descriptions, codes, and the reporting-form number on which each line appears. Appendix A presents more detailed information about the statistics contained in this report.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, no data are published that would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business. However, the number of establishments in a kind-of-business classification is not considered a disclosure, so this information may be released even though other information is withheld.

GEOGRAPHIC AREAS COVERED

This report presents data by kind of business for the United States as a whole.

DOLLAR VALUES

All dollar values presented in this report are expressed in current dollars, i.e., 1992 data are expressed in 1992 dollars. Consequently, when making comparisons to prior years, users of the data should consider the inflation that has occurred.

RELIABILITY OF DATA

The revenue lines data presented in this report are based, in part, upon a sample and, therefore, are subject to both sampling errors and nonsampling errors. Specifically, for establishments in SIC 6411, Insurance Agents, Brokers, and Service, data are estimated based on information obtained from census questionnaires mailed to all large employers and to a sample of small employers in the insurance universe. Sampling errors affect these estimates insofar as they may differ from a complete enumeration. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to identify all cases in the actual universe; definition and classification difficulties; differences in the interpretation of questions; errors in recording or coding the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, processing, and estimation for missing or misreported data.

The reliability of the revenue lines estimates in this report is determined by the joint effects of the various sampling and nonsampling errors. No direct measurement of these effects has been obtained except for estimation for missing or misreported data; however, precautionary steps were taken in all phases of the collection, processing, and tabulation of the data in an effort to minimize the effects. For more detailed information on the sampling procedure, estimation procedure, and sampling error that apply to these data, see appendix A. Table 3 presents information on revenue lines coverage for the published estimates, and appendix A describes the derivation and significance of these coverage data. Also, see appendix E for an indication of the extent that data for kind-of-business totals included in this report were obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies and from estimation, rather than reports directly from respondents.

Finally, it should be noted that selected data in table 1 are not subject to sampling errors, but may be affected by nonsampling errors. These data are the figures presented for each kind-of-business category on total number of establishments with payroll and total revenue for establishments with payroll. These figures are based on data obtained either from census questionnaires or from the administrative records of other Federal agencies and are not estimates derived from a sample.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries may be obtained, depending on availability of time and personnel, on diskette, computer tape, or in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind of business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Services Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

To discuss a special tabulation before submitting specifications, call 1-800-541-8345.

Note: For some revenue lines, data by industry do not add to the total for one of two reasons: (1) At any level of industry detail, if the revenue for the particular revenue line was not a minimal percentage of total revenue for the industry, the line was not shown. The data are included at higher levels, however; or (2) Some respondents reported on alternative report forms which did not have identical revenue lines. Adjustments were made only at lower levels of industry detail where the data were significant.

CENSUS COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Structure and method of enumeration. Firms in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries were divided into the nonmail universe and mail universe. The coverage and the method of obtaining census information from each follow:

1. The nonmail universe consisted of firms which were not required to file a regular census return and included:
  - a. All nonemployers, i.e., all firms with no paid employees during 1992. Revenue information for these firms was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies. Although consisting of many firms, nonemployers accounted for less than 6 percent of total revenue of all establishments covered in the census.

The census included only those financial, insurance, and real estate nonemployer firms which reported a revenue volume of $1,000 or more during 1992.

Data for nonemployers are not included in this report but are provided in a separate Nonemployer Statistics report (FC92-N-1).
  - b. Selected small employers, i.e., single-establishment firms with payroll below a specified cutoff classified in Major Group 64. (The term "employers" refers to firms with one or more paid employees at any time during 1992 as shown in the active administrative records of other Federal agencies.) Small employers generally included firms with fewer than 10 employees and represented about 20 percent of total revenue of establishments in Major Group 64.

Data on revenue, payroll, and employment for employer firms below the payroll cutoff were derived or estimated from administrative records of other Federal agencies, except for a sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data requirements precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. This sample was included in the mail universe.
2. The mail universe consisted of firms for which information was obtained by means of a mail canvass and included:
  - a. Large employers, i.e., all multiestablishment firms, and all employer firms above the payroll size cutoff referred to in section 1b. Within this category, a report of company organization was conducted periodically to identify establishment locations of firms which operated at more than one location and to obtain information on payroll and mid-March employment at each location. The 1991 Report of Company Organization was used as a coverage check in the census. In the 1992 census, all multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these establishments.

In the 1992 census, multiestablishment firms were divided into two categories of report forms, State and establishment. Firms with establishments classified in selected banking (SIC 60) and insurance (SIC 63) industries were sent report forms to collect information for each State in which those firms operated. In addition to the information reported in summary for the State, those firms were asked to report the payroll and mid-March employment for each establishment operated in the State. All other establishments of multiestablishment firms classified in all other financial, insurance, and real estate industries were sent individual report forms for each location.

All multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any States or establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these States or establishments.
  - b. The sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. These firms were sent the census mailing packages containing the appropriate 1992 questionnaire.

Method of classifying kinds of business. The financial, insurance, and real estate industries classifications for all establishments were based on the Standard Industrial

Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC). However, the method of assigning these classifications, and the level of detail at which establishments were classified, differed between the nonmail and mail universes as follows:

1. The nonmail universe
  - a. Nonemployers were classified on the basis of information obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.
  - b. Selected small employers in Major Group 64 were classified on the basis of a brief inquiry requesting information necessary to assign a 1992 census kind-of-business code, or the classification was obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies.
2. Establishments in the mail universe were classified on the basis of their self-designation, sources of revenue, and other special inquiries.

SOURCES OF REVENUE

Revenue line inquiry composition. The revenue line inquiries on 1992 questionnaires were tailored to the kinds of business that would receive them.

Because a complete set of broad revenue lines was not present on any particular questionnaire, respondents sometimes found that part of their revenue did not fit any available revenue line category. When this occurred, they were asked to report revenue on lines for "Other revenue" and to describe the kind of revenue represented. Census personnel subsequently attempted to classify these revenues based on the respondent's description, and to assign the revenue to the appropriate revenue line category. A small percentage of revenue could not be classified and is therefore summarized in this report in a category called "Other revenue."

The effect of excluding insignificant broad revenue lines on particular report forms is an understatement of the number of establishments receiving revenue from each source, and, to a lesser extent, the corresponding revenue figure. The magnitude of this understatement for all revenue lines combined is indicated, at least in part, by the data presented for the "Other revenue" category.

Treatment of nonresponse. Reporting was incomplete or inadequate for establishments representing about 15 percent of the total dollar volume of establishments with payroll. However, revenue line data were expanded to estimate the revenue of all establishments with payroll. The expansion is based on the premise that the revenue lines data for those establishments not reporting this information are similar to revenue lines data for those establishments in the same kind of business that reported this information. Revenue lines data were expanded at the county level by kind-of-business classification based on reported data at that level. If there were no reported revenue lines data for a particular combination of geographic area and kind of business, expansion factors developed at the United States level were used to produce an estimate. These estimates for the most detailed level of geography and kind of business were then summed to produce higher level geography and kind-of-business estimates.

Coverage. Table 3 presents coverage percents for each kind of business shown. Coverage percents indicate the degree to which establishments in each kind of business acceptably reported broad revenue lines. Coverage was determined by dividing total revenue of establishments reporting acceptable data for broad lines (whether or not additional detail lines were reported) by total revenue of all establishments classified in that particular kind of business.

In addition, coverage percents are presented for selected broad lines where additional detailed line information within the broad line was requested. These data indicate the degree to which detail lines within that broad line were acceptably reported. The coverage percent was computed by dividing total revenue of establishments reporting detail within the particular broad line by the estimated revenue of establishments reporting that broad line within the particular kind of business.

Except when precluded by the census disclosure rules (see Introduction), data are shown for individual kinds of business when the dollar volume of reporting coverage accounts for 60 percent or more of revenue after weighting revenue lines of the sample of "small employers" described in the Census Coverage and Methodology section above.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Establishments. An establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted. It is not necessarily identical with a company or enterprise, which may consist of one establishment or more. Statistics for financial, insurance, and real estate industries represent a summary of reports for individual establishments rather than companies. For cases where a census report was received, separate information was obtained for each location where business was conducted. When administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead of a census report, no information was available on the number of locations operated. Estimates of this number were derived from a sample and are provided in the financial, insurance, and real estate industries report, Miscellaneous Subjects (FC92-S-3). Each census report was tabulated according to the physical location at which the business was conducted. The count of establishments represents those in business at any time during 1992. Appendix G, of this report, provides a comparison of the number of establishments active any time during the year versus the number in business at the end of the year.

When two activities or more were carried on at a single location under a single ownership, all activities generally were grouped together as a single establishment. The entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity and all data for it were included in that classification. However, when distinct and separate economic activities (for which different industry classification codes were appropriate) were conducted at a single location under a single ownership, and when conditions prescribed by the SIC manual for recognizing the existence of more than one establishment were met, separate establishment reports for each of the different activities were obtained in the census.

Firms. A firm is a business organization or entity consisting of one domestic establishment (location) or more under common ownership or control. All establishments of subsidiary firms are included as part of the owning or controlling firm. For the economic census, the terms "firm" and "company" are synonymous.

Revenue (Basic dollar volume measure for financial, insurance, and real estate establishments covered by the census). Revenue from all business activities whether or not payment was received in 1992, including net premiums earned by insurance carriers, commissions and fees from all sources, rents, net investment income, interest, dividends, and royalties. Rental revenue from leasing property marketed under operating leases is included, as well as interest earned from property marketed in 1992 under capital, finance, or full payout leases. Revenue also includes the total value of service contracts, amounts received for work subcontracted to others, rents from property sublet to others, and dues and assessments from members.

Revenue does not include sales and other taxes collected from customers and remitted directly by the firm to a local, State, or Federal tax agency. Revenue in this report does not include financial, insurance, or real estate revenue of manufacturers, wholesalers, retail, or service establishments, or other businesses whose primary activity is other than finance, insurance, or real estate.

Annual payroll. Payroll includes all forms of compensation, such as salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, vacation allowances, sick-leave pay, employee contributions to qualified pension plans, and the value of payments in kind (e.g. free meals and lodgings) paid during the year to all employees. Tips and gratuities received by employees from patrons and reported to employers are included. For corporations, payroll includes amounts paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include profit or other compensation of proprietors or partners. Payroll does not include commissions paid to independent (nonemployee) agents, such as insurance and real estate agents. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, union dues, etc. This definition of payroll is the same as that used by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on form 941.

First-quarter payroll. This item consists of payroll, as defined above, paid to persons employed at any time during the quarter January to March, 1992.

Paid employees for pay period including March 12. Paid employees consist of the full- and part-time employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, who were on the payroll during the pay period including March 12. Included are employees on paid sick leave, paid holidays, and paid vacations; not included are proprietors and partners of unincorporated businesses, independent (commission) agents, and employees of departments or concessions operated by other firms. The definition of paid employees is the same as that used on IRS form 941.

Auxiliary establishments. Each company included in this census was asked to identify and separately report auxiliary locations whose primary functions were to manage, administer, service, or support the activities of the other establishments of the company. However, for companies classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), all establishments related to the financial and insurance activity were defined as "operating" regardless of their function and are included in this report. Data for all other auxiliary locations are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate, as defined in Division H of the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) manual, includes establishments operating primarily in the fields of finance, insurance, and real estate. Finance includes depository institutions, nondepository credit institutions, holding (but not predominantly operating) companies, other investment companies, brokers and dealers in securities and commodity contracts, and security and commodity exchanges. Insurance covers carriers of all types of insurance, and insurance agents and brokers. Real estate includes owners, lessors, lessees, agents, and developers of real estate.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned kind-of-business classifications according to the industry classifications defined in the 1987 SIC manual. When a more detailed classification than defined in the SIC manual was needed, additional kinds of business were identified within an SIC industry.

The basis for a kind-of-business classification is described above in "Method of classifying kinds of business." Descriptions of those kinds of business for which data are provided in this report follow.

The Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries includes businesses engaged in the following activities:

These instructions provide general guidelines for the above listed activities — for instructions specific to an individual activity, refer to the instructions that may be printed on the report form.

DEFINITION OF ESTABLISHMENT

An establishment is an economic unit, at a single physical location, where business is conducted or where services are performed. This includes all selling and service locations and any other facilities, such as bank branches, administrative offices, etc.

COMPANIES OPERATING MORE THAN ONE ESTABLISHMENT (LOCATION)

If this company operated more than one establishment (location) under the Employer Identification (EI) Number shown in the label (or as corrected in Item 1) at the end of 1992:

- Item 2 — Enter the location of your headquarters.
- Items 3 through 11c — Report the combined data for the entire company.
- Item 11d — Provide information separately for each establishment, including headquarters. List the location of your headquarters first.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

- This report should cover calendar year 1992. If book figures are not available, estimates are acceptable.
- If the establishment ceased operation before January 1, 1992, indicate final disposition and effective date in Item 3b and return the report form.
- If the establishment ceased operation during 1992; i.e., it was closed, sold, or leased to another firm, complete the remainder of the report form for the portion of 1992 that the business was in operation under this ownership.
- Revenue and payroll data should be rounded to the nearest thousand dollars, as illustrated on the report form.
- If you have any questions, or if any communication regarding this report is necessary, be sure to reference the 11-digit Census File Number (CFN) printed in the address label.

- Please make a photocopy of your completed report form and retain the copy in your files.
- We estimate it will take from 10 minutes to 4 hours and 45 minutes to complete this report form, with 1 hour and 17 minutes being the average time. This includes time to read instructions, assemble and review information, and record answers on the report form. If you have any comments regarding these estimates, send them to the Associate Director for Management Services, Paperwork Reduction Project (0607-0745), Room 2027, FB-3, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-0110; or to the Office of Management and Budget, Paperwork Reduction Project (0607-0745), Washington, DC 20503.

Introduction to the Economic Census

PURPOSES AND USES OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

The economic census is the major source of facts about the structure and functioning of the Nation's economy. It provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public.

The economic census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the gross domestic product, input/output measures, production and price indexes, and other statistical series that measure short-term changes in economic conditions.

Policymaking agencies of the Federal Government use the data, especially in monitoring economic activity and providing assistance to business.

State and local governments use the data to assess business activities and tax bases within their jurisdictions and to develop programs to attract business.

Trade associations study trends in their own and competing industries and keep their members informed of market changes.

Individual businesses use the data to locate potential markets and to analyze their own production and sales performance relative to industry or area averages.

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

Title 13 of the United States Code (sections 131, 191, and 224) directs the Census Bureau to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7. The 1992 Economic Census consists of the following eight censuses:

- Census of Retail Trade
- Census of Wholesale Trade
- Census of Service Industries
- Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries
- Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities
- Census of Manufactures
- Census of Mineral Industries
- Census of Construction Industries

Special programs also cover enterprise statistics and minority-owned and women-owned businesses. (The 1992 Census of Agriculture and 1992 Census of Governments are conducted separately.) The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

AVAILABILITY OF THE DATA

The results of the economic census are available in printed reports for sale by the U.S. Government Printing Office and on compact discs for sale by the Census Bureau. Order forms for all types of products are available on request from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-1900. A more complete description of publications being issued from this census is on the inside back cover of this document.

Census facts are also widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Finally, State data centers in every State as well as business and industry data centers in many States also supply economic census statistics.

WHAT'S NEW IN 1992

The 1992 Economic Census covers more of the economy than any previous census. New for 1992 are data on communications, utilities, financial, insurance, and real estate, as well as coverage of more transportation industries. The economic, agriculture, and governments censuses now collectively cover nearly 98 percent of all economic activity.

Among other changes, new 1992 definitions affect the boundaries of about a third of all metropolitan areas. Also, the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses has now been expanded to include all corporations.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The economic census has been taken as an integrated program at 5-year intervals since 1967 and before that for 1963, 1958, and 1954. Prior to that time, the individual subcomponents of the economic census were taken separately at varying intervals.

The economic census traces its beginnings to the 1810 Decennial Census, when questions on manufacturing were included with those for population. Coverage of economic activities was expanded for 1840 and subsequent censuses to include mining and some commercial activities. In 1902, Congress established a permanent Census Bureau and directed that a census of manufactures be taken every 5 years. The 1905 Manufactures Census was the first time a census was taken apart from the regular every-10-year population census.

The first census of business was taken in 1930, covering 1929. Initially it covered retail and wholesale trade and construction industries, but it was broadened in 1933 to include some of the service trades.

The 1954 Economic Census was the first census to be fully integrated—providing comparable census data across economic sectors, using consistent time periods, concepts, definitions, classifications, and reporting units. It was the first census to be taken by mail, using lists of firms provided by the administrative records of other Federal agencies. Since 1963, administrative records also have been used to provide basic statistics for very small firms, reducing or eliminating the need to send them census questionnaires. The Enterprise Statistics Program, which publishes combined data from the economic census, was made possible with the implementation of the integrated census program in 1954.

The range of industries covered in the economic censuses has continued to expand. The census of construction industries began on a regular basis in 1967, and the scope of service industries was broadened in 1967, 1977, and 1987. The census of transportation began in 1963 as a set of surveys covering travel, transportation of commodities, and trucks, but expanded in 1987 to cover business establishments in several transportation industries. For 1992, these statistics are incorporated into a broadened census of transportation, communications, and utilities. Also new for 1992 is the census of financial, insurance, and real estate industries. This is part of a gradual expansion in coverage of industries previously subjected to government regulation.

The Survey of Minority-Owned Business Enterprises was first conducted as a special project in 1969 and was incorporated into the economic census in 1972 along with the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses.

An economic census has also been taken in Puerto Rico since 1909, in the Virgin Islands of the United States and Guam since 1958, and in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands since 1982.

Statistical reports from the 1987 and earlier censuses provide historical figures for the study of long-term time series and are available in some large libraries. All of the census data published since 1967 are still available for sale on microfiche from the Census Bureau.

AVAILABILITY OF MORE FREQUENT ECONOMIC DATA

While the census provides complete enumerations every 5 years, there are many needs for more frequent data as well. The Census Bureau conducts a number of monthly, quarterly, and annual surveys, with the results appearing in publication series such as Current Business Reports (retail and wholesale trade and service industries), the Annual Survey of Manufactures, Current Industrial Reports, and the Quarterly Financial Report. Most of these surveys, while providing more frequent observations, yield less kind-of-business and geographic detail than the census. The County Business Patterns program offers annual statistics on the number of establishments, employment, and payroll classified by industry within each county.

SOURCES FOR MORE INFORMATION

More information about the scope, coverage, classification system, data items, and publications for each of the economic censuses and related surveys is published in the Guide to the 1992 Economic Census and Related Statistics. More information on the methodology, procedures, and history of the census will be published in the History of the 1992 Economic Census. Contact Customer Services for information on availability.

GENERAL

The 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate (FIRE) Industries, part of the 1992 Economic Census, covered financial, insurance, and real estate industries as defined in Division H of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC).

Data are presented for establishments in the following classifications:

SIC code	Title
60	Depository institutions
61	Nondepository credit institutions
62	Security and commodity brokers, dealers, exchanges, and services
63	Insurance carriers
64	Insurance agents, brokers, and service
65	Real estate
67	Holding and other investment offices

This report includes only establishments with payroll.

Government-affiliated establishments in the covered industries are excluded from this report, with the exception of depository institutions under conservatorship of a governmental organization, central reserve institutions, and federally-sponsored credit agencies.

For firms classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), the basic tabulations in this report include establishments which are auxiliary (primary function is providing a service, such as an administrative office) to other establishments within the same organization. For firms classified in all other industries covered by this report, the basic tabulations do not include data for auxiliary establishments. Data for these auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

For the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries, large- and medium-size firms, plus all firms known to operate more than one establishment, were sent questionnaires to be completed and returned to the Census Bureau by mail. For selected very small firms, including those with no paid employees, data from existing administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead. These records provided basic information on location, kind of business, revenue, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization. In addition, more detailed information for selected kinds of business was obtained on the various questionnaires.

Appendix A gives a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, no data are published that would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business. However, the number of establishments in a kind-of-business classification is not considered a disclosure, so this information may be released even though other information is withheld.

GEOGRAPHIC AREAS COVERED

This report presents data for the following areas:

1. The United States as a whole.
2. Each State and the District of Columbia.
3. Consolidated metropolitan statistical areas (CMSA's) and primary metropolitan statistical areas (PMSA's) defined by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) as of June 30, 1993. It includes two or more contiguous PMSA's which have a population of at least 1,000,000<sup>2</sup> and which meet specific criteria of urban character and of social and economic integration.
4. Metropolitan statistical areas (MSA's) defined by the OMB as of June 30, 1993. An MSA is an integrated economic and social unit with a population nucleus of at least 50,000 inhabitants.<sup>2</sup> Each MSA consists of one or more counties meeting standards of metropolitan character; in New England, cities and towns rather than counties are the component geographic units.

DOLLAR VALUES

All dollar values presented in this report are expressed in current dollars, i.e., 1992 data are expressed in 1992 dollars. Consequently, when making comparisons to prior years, users of the data should consider the inflation that has occurred.

RELIABILITY OF DATA

The data presented on various subjects included in this report are based, in part, upon a sample and, therefore, are subject to both sampling errors and nonsampling errors. Specifically, for establishments in SIC 6411, Insurance Agents, Brokers, and Service, data are estimated based on information obtained from census questionnaires mailed to all large employers and to a sample of small employers in the insurance universe. Sampling errors affect these estimates insofar as they may differ from complete enumeration. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to identify all cases in the actual universe; definition and classification difficulties; differences in the interpretation of questions; errors in recording or coding the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, processing, and estimation for missing or misreported data.

The reliability of data estimates on the selected topics presented in this report is determined by the joint effects of the various sampling and nonsampling errors. No direct measurement of these effects has been obtained except for estimation for missing or misreported data; however, precautionary steps were taken in all phases of the collection, processing, and tabulation of the data in an effort to minimize the effects of nonsampling errors. For more detailed information on the sampling procedure (see Census Coverage and Methodology), and estimation procedure (see Treatment of Nonresponse) that apply to these data, see appendix A. Also, see appendix E for an indication of the extent that data for kind-of-business totals included in this report were obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies and from estimation, rather than reports directly from respondents.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries may be obtained, depending on availability of time and personnel, on diskette, computer tape, or in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind of business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Services Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

To discuss a special tabulation before submitting specifications, call 1-800-541-8345.

General Explanation

CENSUS COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Structure and method of enumeration. Firms in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries were divided into the nonmail universe and mail universe. The coverage and the method of obtaining census information from each follow:

1. The nonmail universe consisted of firms which were not required to file a regular census return and included:
  - a. All nonemployers, i.e., all firms with no paid employees during 1992. Revenue information for these firms was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies. Although consisting of many firms, nonemployers accounted for less than 6 percent of total revenue of all establishments covered in the census.

The census included only those financial, insurance, and real estate nonemployer firms which reported a revenue volume of $1,000 or more during 1992.

Data for nonemployers are not included in this report, but are provided in the Nonemployer Statistics report (FC92-N-1).
  - b. Selected small employers, i.e., single-establishment firms with payroll below a specified cutoff classified in Major Group 64. (The term "employers" refers to firms with one or more paid employees at any time during 1992 as shown in the active administrative records of other Federal agencies.) Small employers generally included firms with fewer than 10 employees and represented about 20 percent of total revenue of establishments in Major Group 64.

Data on revenue, payroll, and employment for employer firms below the payroll cutoff were derived or estimated from administrative records of other Federal agencies, except for a sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data requirements precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. This sample was included in the mail universe.
2. The mail universe consisted of firms for which information was obtained by means of a mail canvass and included:
  - a. Large employers, i.e., all multiestablishment firms, and all employer firms above the payroll size cutoff referred to in section 1b. Within this category, a report of company organization was conducted periodically to identify establishment locations of firms which operated at more than one location and to obtain information on payroll and mid-March employment at each location. The 1991 Report of Company Organization was used as a coverage check in the census. In the 1992 census, all multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these establishments.

In the 1992 census, multiestablishment firms were divided into two categories of report forms, State and establishment. Firms with establishments classified in selected banking (SIC 60) and insurance (SIC 63) industries were sent report forms to collect information for each State in which those firms operated. In addition to the information reported in summary for the State, those firms were asked to report the payroll and mid-March employment for each establishment operated in the State. All other establishments of multiestablishment firms classified in all other financial, insurance, and real estate industries were sent individual report forms for each location.

All multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any States or establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these States or establishments.
  - b. The sample of small employer firms in Major Group 64 for which specialized data precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. These firms were sent the census mailing packages containing the appropriate 1992 questionnaire.

Method of classifying kinds of business. The financial, insurance, and real estate industries classifications for all establishments were based on the Standard Industrial

Classification Manual: 1987<sup>1</sup> (SIC). However, the method of assigning these classifications, and the level of detail at which establishments were classified, differed between the nonmail and mail universes as follows:

1. The nonmail universe
  - a. Nonemployers were classified on the basis of information obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.
  - b. Selected small employers in Major Group 64 were classified on the basis of a brief inquiry requesting information necessary to assign a 1992 census kind-of-business code, or the classification was obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies.
2. Establishments in the mail universe were classified on the basis of their self-designation, sources of revenue, and other special inquiries.

TREATMENT OF NONRESPONSE

Census report forms included two different types of inquiries, "basic" and "special." Basic or general inquiries, which included location, kind of business, revenue, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization, were available from a combination of sources for all establishments. (See "Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries" in the Introduction.) Special inquiries, tailored to the particular kinds of business covered by the report, were available only from establishments in the mail universe which completed the appropriate inquiries on the questionnaire. (See appendix J for examples of special inquiries.)

Data for special inquiries in this report have been expanded in most tables to account for establishments which did not respond to the particular inquiry for which data are presented. Unless otherwise noted in the specific table, data for these special inquiries have been expanded in direct relationship to total revenue. It is assumed that the characteristics of establishments not responding to the particular special inquiry are the same as those of establishments with equal revenue in the same category (publication table line) that did respond to the inquiry.

All tables in which data are expanded to account for nonrespondents include a "coverage" indicator for each publication category, which shows the revenue of establishments responding to the special inquiry as a percent of total revenue of all establishments for which data are shown. Unless otherwise noted in the specific table, data are shown in this report only for categories for which coverage, or level of response, was 60 percent or higher.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Establishments. An establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted. It is not necessarily identical with a company or enterprise, which may consist of one establishment or more. Statistics for financial, insurance, and real estate industries represent a summary of reports for individual establishments rather than companies. For cases where a census report was received, separate information was obtained for each location where business was conducted. When administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead of a census report, no information was available on the number of locations operated. For these cases, only one establishment was tallied in the publications. Consequently, the number of establishments published in the 1992 Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries is understated.

An attempt was made to measure a part of understatement by analyzing the sample of small employers in SIC 6411. There were 9,270 such firms in business at any time during 1992. Of this number, 8,645 responded to the number of locations inquiry and reported operations at 8,904 locations. By weighing these variables and assuming that firms in the sample that did not return their report would respond as those that did report, this sample representing 83,819 firms would have operated a total of 89,838 establishments.

The count of establishments represents those in business at any time during 1992. Appendix G, of this report, provides a comparison of the number of establishments active any time during the year versus the number in business at the end of year.

When two activities or more were carried on at a single location under a single ownership, all activities generally were grouped together as a single establishment. The entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity and all data for it were included in that classification. However, when distinct and separate economic activities (for which different industry classification codes were appropriate) were conducted at a single location under a single ownership, and when conditions prescribed by the SIC manual for recognizing the existence of more than one establishment were met, separate establishment reports for each of the different activities were obtained in the census.

Firms. A firm is a business organization or entity consisting of one domestic establishment (location) or more under common ownership or control. All establishments of subsidiary firms are included as part of the owning or controlling firm. For the economic census, the terms "firm" and "company" are synonymous.

Revenue (Basic dollar volume measure for financial, insurance, and real estate establishments covered by the census). Revenue from all business activities whether or not payment was received in 1992, including net premiums earned by insurance carriers, commissions and fees from all sources, rents, net investment income, interest, dividends, and royalties. Rental revenue from leasing property marketed under operating leases is included, as well as interest earned from property marketed in 1992 under capital, finance, or full payout leases. Revenue also includes the total value of service contracts, amounts received for work subcontracted to others, rents from property sublet to others, and dues and assessments from members.

Revenue does not include sales and other taxes collected from customers and remitted directly by the firm to a local, State, or Federal tax agency. Revenue in this report does not include financial, insurance, or real estate revenue of manufacturers, wholesalers, retail, or service establishments, or other businesses whose primary activity is other than finance, insurance, or real estate.

Annual payroll. Payroll includes all forms of compensation, such as salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, vacation allowances, sick-leave pay, employee contributions to qualified pension plans, and the value of payments in kind (e.g. free meals and lodgings) paid during the year to all employees. Tips and gratuities received by employees from patrons and reported to employers are included. For corporations, payroll includes amounts paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include profit or other compensation of proprietors or partners. Payroll does not include commissions paid to independent (nonemployee) agents, such as insurance and real estate agents. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, union dues, etc. This definition of payroll is the same as that used by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on form 941.

First-quarter payroll. This item consists of payroll, as defined above, paid to persons employed at any time during the quarter January to March, 1992.

Paid employees for pay period including March 12. Paid employees consist of the full- and part-time employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, who were on the payroll during the pay period including March 12. Included are employees on paid sick leave, paid holidays, and paid vacations; not included are proprietors and partners of unincorporated businesses, independent (commission) agents, and employees of departments or concessions operated by other firms. The definition of paid employees is the same as that used on IRS form 941.

Auxiliary establishments. Each company included in this census was asked to identify and separately report auxiliary locations whose primary functions were to manage, administer, service, or support the activities of the other establishments of the company. However, for companies classified as commercial banks, savings institutions, and credit unions (SIC's 602, 603, and 606); and life insurance carriers, accident and health and medical service plans, fire, marine, and casualty, and surety insurance carriers (SIC's 631, 632, 633, and 635), all establishments related to the financial and insurance activity were defined as "operating" regardless of their function and are included in this report. Data for all other auxiliary locations are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate, as defined in Division H of the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) manual, includes establishments operating primarily in the fields of finance, insurance, and real estate. Finance includes depository institutions, nondepository credit institutions, holding (but not predominantly operating) companies, other investment companies, brokers and dealers in securities and commodity contracts, and security and commodity exchanges. Insurance covers carriers of all types of insurance and insurance agents and brokers. Real estate includes owners, lessors, lessees, agents, and developers of real estate.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned kind-of-business classifications according to the industry classifications defined in the 1987 SIC manual. When a more detailed classification than defined in the SIC manual was needed, additional kinds of business were identified within an SIC industry.

The basis for a kind-of-business classification is described above in Method of Classifying Kinds of Business. Descriptions of those kinds of business for which data are provided in this report follow.
